Summary

The release of the 2009 US GAAP Taxonomies is part of an annual release of the US GAAP Taxonomies. Prior to release, the US GAAP Taxonomies are made available to the public for review. The public review period for the 2009 US GAAP Taxonomies ended on January 15, 2009. The final 2009 US GAAP Taxonomies (“2009 Taxonomy”) will be released for public use pending a final approval process by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”).

These release notes describe certain changes that have been made to the 2008 US GAAP Taxonomies (“2008 Taxonomy”). The bulk of changes relate to one of the following:

- Updates for accounting standards
- Expanded disclosure for previous omissions
- Correction of errors and rationalization of duplicated concepts
- Updated modeling of existing taxonomy structures for XBRL architectural developments (e.g., dimensional tables).

The 2009 Taxonomy is substantially the same as the 2008 Taxonomy. The changes to the 2008 Taxonomy were made with the intent of minimizing the impact on instance documents prepared using the 2008 Taxonomy. The 2009 Taxonomy has a different namespace which means existing instances will have to be updated for the new namespace.

For those elements carried forward from the 2008 Taxonomy to the 2009 Taxonomy, the element names have been left identical in order to facilitate conversion of instances to the 2009 Taxonomy. However, there are a number of changes described in this document that will need to be considered, specifically changes in element attributes and deprecated elements from the 2008 Taxonomy.

There have been changes to a number of definitions in the 2009 Taxonomy. If the change to a definition changed the meaning of the concept, then a new element was created to take its place or be available as an alternative concept. If the change to the definition made the concept more general in nature, the element should continue to be used.

A complete list of all changes to the 2008 Taxonomy, necessary to complete the 2009 Taxonomy, is included in the Appendices hereto and will be posted on the XBRL US website to help software vendors and preparers transition from the 2008 Taxonomy to the 2009 Taxonomy.

GAAP Changes

The 2008 Taxonomy has been updated to take into account changes in generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) over the past year and standards that became effective for periods beginning after December 15, 2008. The 2009 Taxonomy has been updated for the following:

- FAS No. 141 (R) – Business Combinations
- FAS No. 160 – Non-controlling Interests in Consolidated Financial Statements an amendment of ARB No. 51

- FAS No. 161 – Disclosures about Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities an amendment of FASB Statement No. 133
- FAS No. 163 - Accounting for Financial Guarantee Insurance Contracts, an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 60

Other Amendments

- EITF 06-11 – Accounting for Income Tax Benefits of Dividends on Share-Based Payment Awards
- EITF 08-3 - Accounting by Lessees for Maintenance Deposits
- FSP APB 14-1 – Accounting for Convertible Debt Instruments That May Be Settled in Cash upon Conversion (Including Partial Cash Settlement)
- FSP EITF 03-6-1 – Determining Whether Instruments Granted in Share-Based Payment Transactions Are Participating Securities
- FSP FAS 132(R)-1 – Employers’ Disclosures about Postretirement Benefit Plan Assets
- FSP FAS 133-1 & FIN 45-4 – Disclosures about Credit Derivatives and Certain Guarantees: An Amendment of FASB Statement No. 133 and FASB Interpretation No. 45; and Clarification of the Effective Date of FASB Statement No. 161
- FSP FAS 140-4 and FIN 46(R)-8 – Disclosures by Public Entities (Enterprises) about Transfers of Financial Assets and Interests in Variable Interest Entities
- FSP FAS 142-3 – Determination of the Useful Life of Intangible Assets

Changes that Affect Existing Instance Documents

The 2009 Taxonomy has corrected a number of errors in the 2008 Taxonomy that could impact existing instances. These are either a change in an item’s period type or data type.

Change in Data Type

The reasons that changes were made to data types may be categorized as: (A) to make elements less restrictive so that the change would generally not invalidate an instance; (B) to conform the element to modeling guidelines and maintain consistency (e.g., string element to blocktext element); and (C) correction in the 2009 Taxonomy of an incorrect Data Type assigned to a 2008 Taxonomy element. Detailed changes to element types, by category, are summarized as follows:

Category (A) Items – Appendix 1:

- Items converted from integerItemType to decimalItemType (14)

Category (B) Items – Appendix 2:

- Items converted from stringItemType to textBlockItemType (44)
- Items converted from textBlockItemType to stringItemType (1)

Category (C) Items – Appendix 3:

- Items converted from perUnitItemType to sharesItemType (1)
- Items converted from perUnitItemType to perShareItemType (2)
- Items converted from booleanItemType to stringItemType (1)
- Items converted from monetaryItemType to stringItemType (1)
- Items converted from normalizedStringItemType to textBlockItemType (1)
- Items converted from normalizedStringItemType to SECReportItemType (1)
- Items converted from sharesItemType to perShareItemType (1)

Change in Period Type

All elements in the US GAAP Taxonomy have either an “Instant” or “Duration” period type. As part of the upgrade of the 2008 Taxonomy, the period type of 52 elements was changed from “Instant” to “Duration”. The changed items are detailed in Appendix 4. If one of these elements was used, the preparer will have to change the context for that element.

Change in Balance Type

Monetary items in the US GAAP Taxonomy are assigned either a “Debit” or “Credit” balance type. There are exceptions to this guideline for monetary items that can be either a “Debit” or a “Credit” as in the case of “Period Increase or Decrease” elements and certain other rare instances. In order to correct for known errors, nine (9) monetary elements have had their balance type changed. The changed elements may be summarized as follows and are detailed in Appendix 5:

- Items converted from “Debit” to “Credit” balance type (1)
- Items converted from “Debit” to no balance type (4)
- Items converted from no balance type to “Debit” balance type (2)
- Items converted from “Credit” to “Debit” balance type (2)

Deprecated Items

A number of concepts in the 2008 Taxonomy have been removed (“deprecated”) from the 2009 Taxonomy (See Appendix 6). This was due to changes in accounting standards, the correction of errors, and the rationalization of duplicate elements. The reason for removal has been captured in the 2009 Taxonomy to ensure that these deprecated elements are phased out and do not continue to be used by preparers into perpetuity. A number of steps have been taken to clearly identify deprecated elements and provide guidance to preparers as to the 2009 Taxonomy element that should be used in place of the deprecated item. Deprecated elements are identified in the 2009 Taxonomy as follows:

- A label that captures the date of depreciation has been added to deprecated elements and the deprecated date has been appended to the element’s standard label. The date represents the date when the element should no longer be used. This will usually align with the date of the release of the taxonomies. If there is a phase out period, it will indicate that date.

- A separate label is used to indicate the details of the deprecated element. Specifically, the label will indicate the reason that it was deprecated, the effective date of depreciation, and the new element that should be used. The label is called "deprecatedLabel".

Not all deprecated elements will have a "new" element that should be used in its place. Such elements may be deprecated due to errors in their creation, infrequent use in practice because of duplication or overlapping with another element, or because the element has become superseded and is no longer relevant to a set of financial statements or financial information submitted for interactive data filing purposes in accordance with the governing promulgated accounting or financial reporting principles. In such cases, the deprecated element will have a deprecated label; however, no replacement element will be indicated.

Deprecated Element Types

In addition to an informational label and a date label, deprecated elements are defined in a definition linkbase relationship to further assist preparers. The deprecated relationships used in the 2009 Taxonomy are as follows:

Deprecated Relationship	Description
No Relationship	No replacement elements exist. Such deprecated items (55) are included in a Deprecated Concepts Group in the Presentation Linkbase (only) with no on-going relationship to supported elements.
essence-alias	The essence-alias relationship is a one to one relationship in which a deprecated element has been replaced by an identical concept. Fifty-two (52) elements have been deprecated from the 2009 Taxonomy and replaced by identical concepts. For instance, if there was a duplication of concepts identified, one of the elements would be deprecated in favor of the surviving element. In this case, the deprecated item is provided as a child to the surviving element in the essence-alias relationship of the Definition Hierarchy (linkbase).
dep-aggregateConcept-deprecatedPartConcept	The dep-aggregateConcept-deprecatedPartConcept relationship in the Definition Hierarchy (linkbase) represents multiple concepts that have been deprecated in favor of a single, higher level, more encompassing concept. Twenty-two (22) elements have been deprecated from the 2009 Taxonomy and assigned this relationship. For instance, if three

	previously distinct groups of elements such as class of common stock, preferred stock, and convertible preferred stock were combined into a single Dimensional Table, the element that combines and replaces the three elements would be an aggregate concept replacing the three part concepts. dep-concept-deprecatedConcept	The dep-concept-deprecatedConcept relationship in the Definition Hierarchy (linkbase) represents a one to one relationship similar to essence-alias with the exception that the deprecated concept and the “new” element do not have all the same attributes. Ninety-six (96) elements have been deprecated from the 2009 Taxonomy and assigned this relationship. For instance, if an “Instant” period type element replaces a “Duration” period type element, then this relationship would be categorized by the dep-concept-deprecatedConcept relationship. dep-dimensionallyQualifiedConcept-deprecatedConcept	In the case where an element was replaced with a dimensional equivalent, (e.g., Common Stock, Additional Series, No Par Value) the deprecated and replacement element is described using the dep-dimensionallyQualifiedConcept-deprecatedConcept relationship. The fact that was previously meant to be represented by the deprecated element has been replaced by the interaction between the “new” Line Item and the dimensionally qualifying Table Member. Forty-seven (47) elements have been deprecated from the 2009 Taxonomy and assigned this relationship.
dep-mutuallyExclusiveConcept-deprecatedConcept	The dep-mutuallyExclusiveConcept-deprecatedConcept relationship is used when the deprecated element can be represented as two concepts. Sixty-five (65) elements have been deprecated from the 2009 Taxonomy and described using this relationship. For instance, the 2008 Taxonomy included elements that were meant to represent either the current portion of

	a concept in a classified balance sheet or the aggregate of the current and noncurrent portion in an unclassified presentation. Such concepts are mutually exclusive for financial data tagging purposes and, therefore, such elements have been deprecated and replaced with separate mutually exclusive concepts. Preparers that previously used such deprecated concepts should only use one of the mutually exclusive replacement concepts; the value previously tagged with the deprecated concept should not be apportioned between the new concepts. dep-partConcept-deprecatedAggregateConcept	The dep-partConcept-deprecatedAggregateConcept relationship was assigned to deprecated items that were replaced by elements representing greater detail. For instance, if “borrowings concepts” was deprecated and replaced with specific concepts representing distinct types of borrowings and the concepts thereof, the dep-partConcept-deprecatedAggregateConcept relationship was assigned. Sixteen (16) elements have been deprecated from the 2009 Taxonomy and assigned this relationship.

The elements that have been deprecated from the 2008 Taxonomy in creating the 2009 Taxonomy are summarized by category (see above) in Appendix 6.

Deprecated elements should no longer be used as of their stated date of deprecation and instance documents should be updated and revised accordingly.

Changes that Do Not Affect Existing Instance Documents

Change to Standard Label

Five hundred sixteen (516) standard labels have been modified to better identify the substance and intended application of items provided in the 2009 Taxonomy. None of the 516 element names have been changed and, therefore, no impact to existing instance documents is expected. The elements whose standard labels have been changed are detailed in Appendix 7.

Change to Documentation Label

The definitions of one thousand twenty-four (1,024) concepts have been changed in the 2009 Taxonomy. These changes were made in order to clarify the meaning of a concept, correct grammatical and/or spelling errors, broaden definitions to increase applicability of restrictive financial tags, and correct identified inconsistencies between labels and definitions of individual items. The changes to definitions, which are detailed in Appendix 8, should not affect instances. If the modification to the definition was considered to substantively change the meaning of the concept, the concept has been deprecated and a new concept has been created. The items described in Appendix 8 were not substantively modified and have been carried forward in the 2009 Taxonomy from the 2008 Taxonomy.

New Types Added

The following types have been added to the 2009 Taxonomy in order to provide definitions and capture specific operating metrics for different industries. These types are listed below.

Area Item Type

The Area Item Type is used to indicate that an element represents an area. The Area Item Type indicates one of the following measures of area:

Description	Area Code
Square Meter	sqm
Square Kilometer	sqkm
Hectare	ha
Square Foot	sqft
Square Mile	sqmi
Square English Mile	sqemi
Acre	A

Volume Item Type

The Volume Item Type is used to indicate that an element represents a volume and can be used to express the volume of any substance, whether solid, liquid, or gas. The Volume Item Type indicates whether it is one of the following measures of volume:

Description	Volume Code
Liter	1
Cubic Meter	cubicMeter
Cubic Feet	cubicFeet
Gallons	gal
Cubic Feet of Natural Gas at 14.73psi and 60 degrees F	cf
Thousand Cubic Feet of Natural Gas at 14.73psi and 60 degrees F	Mcf
Million Cubic Feet of Natural Gas at 14.73psi and 60 degrees F	MMcf
Barrels of Oil at 60 degrees F	bbbl
Thousands of Barrels of Oil at 60 degrees F	MBbls
Millions of Barrels of Oil at 60 degrees F	MMBbls

Mass Item Type

The Mass Item Type is a synonym for weight. This represents the mass of an object which can be measured as one of the following:

Description	Weight Code
Gram	g
Kilogram	kg
Metric Ton	MT
Ounces	oz
Pounds	lb
US Ton	T

Energy Item Type

The Energy Item Type represents a unit of energy. This unit can be measured as one of the following:

Description	Energy Code
Joule	J
Kilojoule	kJ
Megajoule	mJ
Calorie	Calorie
British Thermal Unit	Btu
British Oil Equivalent	Boe
Thousand Cubic Feet of Gas Equivalent	Mcfe
Foot-pound Force	Foot_Pound_Force
kilowatt Hour	kWh

Power Item Type

Power Item Type represents a measure of the rate of energy use or energy production, and is equivalent to the use or production of energy during a period of time (i.e., a Watt is equal to one Joule of energy per second). This unit can be measured as one of the following:

Description	Power Code
Watt	W
Kilowatt	kW
Megawatt	mW
Gigawatt	gW
Terawatt	tW
Horsepower	Hp

Length Item Type

The Length Item Type is a measure of distance. This unit represents one of the following:

Description	Distance Code
Millimeter	mm
Centimeter	Cm
Meter	m
Kilometer	km
Inch	In
Foot	ft
Yard	yd

Nautical Mile	NMi
Mile	Mi
English Mile	EnMi

New Elements

There have been one thousand five hundred ninety (1,590) new elements added to the 2009 Taxonomy. The elements, which are detailed in Appendix 9, were added to the 2009 Taxonomy to capture newly issued generally accepted accounting standards, modifications to the same, or to amplify the financial reporting and financial data tags provided in the 2008 Taxonomy.

Schedule of Investments

The 2009 Taxonomy includes a Schedule of Investments which is an additional entry point for filers who report detailed or summary listings of investments. This schedule reflects the provisions of SEC Regulation S-X.
